- All participants will receive a certificate, and awards will be presented to the best submissions.

REQUIREMENTS FOR OBTAINING A CERTIFICATE

- Submit a contribution to the conference and remain in attendance until the awards ceremony. Participation in the preparatory work alone will not be recognised if the student does not present and defend the work on the day of the conference, unless prevented from doing so for a justified reason.
- Meet the quality standards required by the Organising Committee for the submitted work and have an academic supervisor, as specified in the call for papers.

AWARDS FOR THE BEST PAPERS

A prize will be awarded for the best presentation, which will cover the full cost of participating in one of the following cultural activities or conferences:

- AC Cultural Trip 2027: Kraków and Warsaw (January 2028)
- UnivForum 2027
- UnivInspire 2027
- Observatory of the Invisible
- Kultun Conference for Young Women University Students (July 2027)

The next nine groups, ranked according to their overall score, will also be eligible for an award. Specifically, the top four groups will receive funding equivalent to 80% of the cost of the SAC Cultural Trip, while the remaining five groups will receive 50%, to enable them to participate in any of the activities on offer, whether the trip itself or any of the other options.

As a new feature of this edition, particular consideration will be given to the oral presentation of the work and to the responses, discussion and dialogue arising from it.

The judging panel reserves the right not to award a prize where the submitted work does not meet the required standard of quality. Any of the awards may also be withheld if the judging panel deems this appropriate.

The results of the "Student Academic Conference 2027" awards will be communicated by email from 8 March onwards.
